

BOY HELD CHARGED WITH MANSLAUGHTER

Stabbed and Killed Choir Mate on Park Street, Boston, Friday Night.

(Special to The Herald)
Boston, Feb. 13.—Right A. Edmundson, Jr., of Cambridge, 14 years old, who killed John Sidney Goodwin, the 15-year-old choir boy, on Park street last night, was held this morning in $1000 bonds for further hearing next Friday on a charge of manslaughter, by Judge Baker in the municipal court. Invenile session, Edmundson pleaded not guilty to a charge of murder. The original charge of murder was changed to manslaughter on the recommendation of Judge Baker and arrangements are being made to provide bail for the boy. The boy's parents were deeply moved over the case and were in court with their boy.

NO CAUSE FOR ALARM OVER USE OF FLAG

English Newspapers Claim U. S. Will Make No Serious Protest.

London, Feb. 13.—English papers see no cause of alarm in the recent notes of the United States respecting the use of the American flag as a prevention of seizure of cargoes. They declare that no food will be allowed to reach Germany and that any consignment from ships of Great Britain will be amply paid for. "No food or raw material must reach Germany from the outside as far as we can prevent. The Wilhelmite is a test case. To allow the cargo to go through would not only be a deplorable exhibition of weakness but a betrayal of all which we Allies are fighting for."

THE RUSSIANS OUT OF EAST PRUSSIA

Russian Armies Retiring to Their Own Territory From East
Prussian Lakes.

Berlin, Feb. 13.—Official reports received here yesterday from the front say that much is happening in East Prussia, especially about the lake region. There, with the Kaiser and 200,000 of his fresh troops to act as a spur to the great army already opposing Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russian offensive has been halted and the Tsar's invading forces have recrossed the frontier into their own territory.

Berlin mentions this retirement as a signal Russian defeat. Petrograd, in the official confirmation of the news, says the movement is strictly for strategic purposes and to enable the armies to regroup and redispense themselves to meet the German reinforcements. The Berlin reports state that the Germans have taken 26,000 prisoners, 20 cannon, 30 machine guns and much war material.

If the German statement is correct the Russian reverse apparently is almost as serious as that which the Tsar's forces suffered in the same place early in the war.

Before the German official communication was received in London military men were inclined to look on the Russian retirement as a wise move, declaring that it would compel the Germans to fight the battle on Russian territory and away from their strategic railways. The army which the Germans flung so suddenly into East Prussia is believed to have numbered 200,000 men and to have been made up of soldiers who have been fighting on the Bzura and Western front, and of units of the new army which has just completed training in central Germany.

The Germans have resumed the offensive in Russian Poland on the right bank of the Lower Vistula and have occupied the town of Sierpce, which lies a short distance to the northwest of Plock. Thus the chief battle ground in the east has been transferred from the lines west and southwest of Warsaw to the north.

The battles in the Carpathians continue, but the general staff of neither of the contending forces gives much information concerning the fighting. The full continues to prevail on the western battle front, where the fighting is confined to artillery duels and a couple of infantry attacks in the Argonne and northwest of Verdun, in which the Germans say they have been successful.

A British eyewitness in a report of his observations on the western front says the British artillery arm has been greatly strengthened and that it has gained the ascendancy over the Germans. There have been many reports of new and better guns being constructed for the British, and these apparently now are in service.
Airmen have been extremely active. Thirty-four British aviators have delivered an attack on the German positions in Belgium, while German aviators have dropped a hundred bombs on Verdun. It has been urged that an attack by large numbers of aeroplanes is the only way to make them effective, and both sides seem to have adopted this suggestion, as is indicated by the British raid and the attack by German aircraft over Dunkirk some days ago.

communication issued here today. A squadron of German aeroplanes flew over Verdun but the bombs they dropped did no damage. The Germans also violently bombarded Ypres and Nieuport, but the French artillery effectively replied to the cannonade.

GERMAN SUBMARINES AGAIN ACTIVE
(Special to The Herald)
London, Feb. 13.—German submarines are believed to be active again in their destructive work on British communication ships. The cargo steamer 'Toukay' was towed into Scarborough harbor early today in a sinking condition. She was either torpedoed or struck a mine about eight miles east of that port. One man was killed and two seriously injured by the shock which damaged the vessel. The S. S. Oriole and the London Trader, which have not been heard from since Jan. 30, are also known to have been sunk by submarine attacks.

It seems about time that notices on the local electric cars should be stopped. Conductors should prevent noisy and boisterous talking of intoxicated or "freak" persons (of which there are many in this vicinity) on street cars. It is annoying to many passengers, and a fare-paying passenger certainly has a right to travel in quiet and peace.

Mrs. John L. Stoddard of Malden, Mass., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Charles F. Hussey of the Intervale.

It is reported that one superintendent of schools may be hired in the future for the towns of Kittery and York.

Mr. George D. Boulter is passing a few days in Boston.

RICE PUBLIC LIBRARY

Rice Public Library of Kittery was established through the munificence of Miss Arabella Rice of Portsmouth and Boston, who left by will, dated May 18, 1867, the sum of $30,000 in trust, the income to be used for a free public library for the benefit of the inhabitants of the town of Kittery. This she did in consideration of the wish of her father, Robert Rice, who was a native of the town. The trustees of the fund were appointed by the executors of the will, subject to the approval of the Judge of Probate of York County. The first board of trustees consisted of Rev. Daniel Austin, Ichabod Goodwin, Wm. H. Y. Blackett, Ephraim C. Spiny and John Wentworth. Rev. Mr. Austin was elected President of the board, Feb. 22, 1874, resigning on account of ill health, April 14, 1877, when Ichabod Goodwin was elected President in his stead, and Moses A. Safford was elected a member of the board in place of Mr. Austin, resigned. The first death to occur among the members of the board was that of W. H. Y. Blackett, who died August 9, 1878, and Rev. Joel Wilson was elected a member to succeed him. Upon the death of Ichabod Goodwin in 1883, Edward P. Safford was elected to the vacant place on the board, and at the same time Moses A. Safford was elected President, which office he held continuously until May 2, 1894. According to the terms of the will no part of the original bequest, could be used for a library building, but the accumulation of revenue from the fund after ten years could be so used, hence the library was first quartered in rooms in Trefethen's, or what is now known as Wentworth Block, in that part now occupied by the post office, and the services of Miss Abbie A. J. Goodsoe were secured as librarian. There were two rooms, one used for the library proper, and the other as a reading room. The former was open three days of the week, and the reading room was open daily.

In 1855 the present library lot was purchased of the heirs of Richard W. Train for $1400 and in 1858 the accumulations of the fund having reached some $1200, steps were taken for the construction of a library building. As the funds were insufficient to pay for such a building as desired, an additional sum of $5000 was borrowed on note to be paid out of the future income of the fund. The contract price for the building, exclusive of excavation and grading was $14,075. Total cost of building when finished was $16,474.48. The new building was dedicated with appropriate ceremonies Nov. 6, 1859.

In 1861 occurred the death of Wm. H. Hackett, son of W. H. Y. Hackett, who had been the faithful and efficient secretary of the board from its first organization in 1873. He was not a member of the board, but received a nominal sum for his services. His records are remarkable for neatness, thoroughness and accuracy. He also did the clerical work for the treasurer, Edward P. Safford, succeeded Mr. Hackett as secretary and treasurer, and continued in that position until his death, October 16, 1893. In 1894 two more members were added to the board of trustees, bringing the number to seven. These were Calvin L. Hayes, building may be found necessary to add Samuel B. Neal, Mr. Hayes was elected to the office of treasurer, and elected to the office of treasurer, and so served until his death, July 24, 1914. Edward P. Safford died October 16, 1893, and was succeeded as secretary by Calvin L. Hayes. April 19, 1892, Clarence M. Prince and Rev. Harry V. Emmons were elected trustees. Mr. Emmons resigned in 1902. Dore, and an investigation of the resignation of the librarian, Miss Alice A. P. Goodsoe was received in his history will conclude every fair December, 1901, and Miss Hazel O. Goodsoe, her niece was elected librarian in her place. Miss Goodsoe had done very faithful and efficient work during the years she served as librarian, having seen the library grow from a small beginning to over 6000 volumes.

March 29, 1903, George S. Wasson of this town was elected vice Rev. Joel Wilson who died Dec. 18, 1902. Mr. Wasson resigned January 13, 1911, as a trustee. Nominal pay for special John Wentworth, the last surviving member of the original board of trustees, died Nov. 4, 1903. The vacancy was not filled.

April 7, 1903, preliminary steps were taken for the incorporation of the library, in accordance with the provisions of the will of Miss Rice, under Sec. 4, Chapter 55, R. S. of Maine.

May 3, 1903, the first meeting of the incorporators was held and Dr. Edward E. Shapleigh and Alexander Dennett were added to the board of trustees.

In 1900 connection was made with the main of the Kittery Water District, introducing Folly Pond water into the library building. September 11, 1907, Miss Hazel O. Goodsoe resigned as librarian, and Miss Eleanor L. Lovell, the present librarian, was elected to the position. In 1912 electric lights were installed in the building.

During the past year a new heating plant has been installed, and a room added up as a children's room, where all the juvenile books and young people's magazines taken, are assembled, and suitable chairs and tables provided.

Within the past year the Board has suffered the loss of two of its officers by death, Moses A. Safford Esq., President of the Board who died May 8, 1914 and Calvin L. Hayes, secretary and treasurer, who passed to the beyond July 24, 1914. To the interest and efficiency of these gentlemen the library owes much of its excellence and usefulness. The vacancies in the Board were filled by the election of Elmer J. Burnham and Miss Mary B. Safford, Alexander Dennett was chosen president, and Mr. Burnham succeeded to the combined offices of secretary and treasurer.

By careful judgment and management the permanent fund has suffered no loss by unfortunate investment and it is now considerably in excess of the original amount, but no more so than consistent with the low rate of income of safe investments compared with the time when the library was established. The time may come when an enlargement of the building may be found necessary to accommodate the increasing number of volumes from year to year.

To quote from one of the reports of 1914, Edward P. Safford died October 16, 1893, and was succeeded as secretary by Calvin L. Hayes. April 19, 1892, Clarence M. Prince and Rev. Harry V. Emmons were elected trustees. Mr. Emmons resigned in 1902. Dore, and an investigation of the resignation of the librarian, Miss Alice A. P. AMERICAN WOMAN FREED BY GERMANY

Was Arrested as a Spy by German Authorities Some Time Ago.

Berlin, Feb. 12.—Upon that she leave Germany immediately and only after Ambassador Gerard had intervened vigorously in her behalf, Miss Carolyn Wilson of Beverly, Mass., arrested here on suspicion of being a spy by German authorities, was today given her freedom. Ambassador Gerard will aid her in leaving Germany for the United States.

shelved is about 9,000. The circulation averages about 8,500 books per year, among 500 patrons. The rules have lately been expanded to permit the issue of juvenile books to children who are vouched for by parents or guardians.

There has been an impression abroad sometimes voiced that the trustees should make an annual public report of the affairs of the library, but as the institution is receiving no state nor town aid, the laws do not require such report, yet it is not with a desire to conceal anything of its affairs or management that such report is withheld, but the limited demand for such a report and the cost of printing same make it doubtful if there would be wisdom in the plan, and the outline thus saved can be put to better use in the regular channels of library efficiency and equipment.

Rice Public Library and the sister institution, Trapp Academy, stand as visible evidence of the generosity of their donors, and the care and good judgment of the conservers of the respective funds left for their maintenance, which have made possible these two effective means for the intellectual development and improvement of our youth and the citizens of Kittery generally.

Merchant Tailored Clothes Make a Good Impression

They put backbone into a business man. Dignity and assurance follow the trail of good dressing, for while clothes do not make the man, they make an impression. Men of position wear Merchant Tailored Clothes, and recognize them on others.

I clothe many prominent men because my materials are stylish, exclusive, durable; the fashions are timely, yet correct; every suit emphasizes the wearer's good points and make good his weak ones.

Suits at low prices consistent with good material and workmanship.

CRAFT DRIVEN ASHORE
ON LEDGES IN CASCO BAYCapt. Harris and Companion Rescued
tery Thursday for Portland.

Capt. Henry C. Harris of Boston and his companion, Alfred Osborn of Portland, left Kittery on Thursday in the sloop S. D. Wilson, a large power boat, having in tow a large cutter, No. 122, which was recently purchased by another Portland man at the navy yard auction sale. While moving along the coast late last night the sloop and cutter ran on the rocks of House Island in Casco Bay. Both craft were badly damaged.

There, drenched to the skin and being rapidly frozen by the cold wind, as their last hope, the pair set fire to what dry rags were left on board the steamer and were finally discovered by the government steamer Gen. A. M. Randall whose captain with a searchlight discovered the pair hovering over the rags in a vain endeavor to keep warm, proceeded to the spot and, after some difficulty, picked them up and took them to Portland.

Captain Harris was in such a condition that he was directed to the police station, where he was filled with hot fish chowder and placed in a warm lodging room for the night. He will visit House Island today to see whether or not the stocky auxiliary boat withstood the attack of the seas or has at last succumbed.

Had it not been for the fact that a government steamer was running last evening and its captain spotted the dim glaze of the rag fire, Capt. Harris and his companion would probably have fared much worse. As it is, however, both were in a bad way when they were landed at Portland pier, although Osborn was able to make his way home.

Capt. Harris came to Portland early in September on his way to his home town. He was 40 days in making that trip and succeeded in reaching this port only after a succession of misfortunes. On account of engine trouble, he was forced to land at Portsmouth harbor, where he was taken ill and obliged to go to the hospital for treatment. While there, he left his craft in charge of a man who betrayed this trust and stole everything of any value.

It was Capt. Harris's intention to fix his engine at this port but it was finally found necessary to once again change from boiler to gasoline. He has been here since the first of September and in all probability the voyage of the L. V. Wilson will end at this port as it is not believed that the craft will withstand the experience of Thursday evening.

Captain Harris who has been a resident of Boston for many years was on his way to his old home in Bear River, Nova Scotia, by easy stages. He had been fishing out of Portland since September but intended to renew his voyage soon. It is a pathetic climax to the old sailor's long sea career, for his boat was his home and his only means of making a livelihood.

WIFE OF NAVAL OFFICER A SUICIDE

New York, Feb. 12.—In a gale at 9 o'clock Friday night, Feb. 5, when the Niagara of the French Line, which reached port yesterday from Havre, had been six days at sea, Mrs. Chester M. Knepper of Washington, wife of a retired Captain in the United States navy, took her life by jumping overboard.

Mrs. Knepper was subject to melancholy. Capt. Knepper had taken her to the south of France, where his wife seemed to be much improved. On Feb. 2, the Niagara ran into a fierce gale, which grew worse and continued four days. Capt. and Mrs. Knepper were on the port side of the promenade deck Friday night.

The ocean was unusually rough. Capt. Knepper, who was standing a short distance away, saw his wife suddenly climb the skeleton rail and clasp a stanchion.

Two sailors as well as Capt. Knepper tried to seize her. Before they could reach her she let go the stanchion and dropped overboard.

Looking over the rail, the passengers could see Mrs. Knepper drift the length of the ship. Two self-lighting collyrene lifebuoys were thrown overboard. Capt. Juham stopped his engines, reversed and sent away a lifeboat and circled.

Automatic night signal lifebuoys were thrown overboard and the lifeboat searched for a long time, but nothing more was seen of the Captain's wife. Mrs. Knepper was forty-three years old.

NEW HAMPSHIRE COLLEGE
NOTES

New Hampshire College, Durham, N. H., Feb. 12.—Professor C. F. Emerson, dean emeritus of Dartmouth College, was one of the speakers at a special convocation here this afternoon in honor of the visit of the Agricultural College Committee and the Agricultural Committee of the legislature. Professor Emerson told the students that he heard the first recitation ever held in New Hampshire State college 48 years ago, when the school began its career at Hanover. He gave some interesting information as to the earlier classes, and then, referring to the fact that today is Lincoln's birthday, called on his hearers to think seriously of what they can do, if Lincoln without their advantages was able to do what he did. "You can be great," he said, "because you are good, and great because you do good. Aim high. There are better things above than below. If you would profit here, you must help your teachers. You must respond, if you expect them to do their best for you."

Representative T. M. Dillingham, another speaker, is a Dartmouth man, and was in college when New Hampshire State was in Hanover and he too spoke interestingly of the first days of the college. He was enthusiastic in his praise of the great work being done here and said if he had his way, all the money available would be given to the college and the good roads project would wait.

Representative P. R. Woodman told of the legislative problems of New Hampshire and pointed out that the state is like a family, each member of which must at times sacrifice himself for others. President Fairchild, who presided, gave an interesting address on Lincoln, pointing out some lessons that are to be learned from the great president's life, and concluded by reading the Gettysburg address.

The visitors forty string arrived on the morning train and spent the forenoon in a careful inspection of the many buildings. All expressed themselves as greatly impressed with what they had seen. They were guests of the college at a luncheon in Smith Hall.

CASCARETS KEEP BOWELS REGULAR AND CURE COLDS

No headache, sour stomach, bad cold or constipation by morning.

Get a 10-cent box.

Colds—whether in the head or any part of the body—are quickly overcome by drying the liver to action and keeping the bowels free of poison. Take Cascarets to-night and you will wake up with a clear head and no doubt you will wonder what became of your cold. Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the bowels.

Remember the quickest way to get rid of colds is one or two Cascarets at night to cleanse the system. Get a 10-cent box at any drug store. Don't forget the children. They catch this Cavity Cathartic and it is often all that is needed to drive a cold from their little systems.

Professor J. H. Foster, head of the department of forestry here, issues a word of warning to the farmers of the state: First, not to be fooled by men who are trying to buy woodlots at low prices, and, second, not to be in too great a hurry to sell lumber.

Professor Foster says: "Unless the owner knows that he can get very close to the usual price for logs or lumber now, it is not advisable to do much logging this winter. The lumber market, like many other markets at the present time, is temporarily under the weather. Although this condition may not last long, it is a poor time to sell lumber or to carry on extensive logging operations on the home farm. Box and other wood-using plants are able to buy their lumber just now under the normal price because some people are short of funds or have figured out that it is cheaper to sell now than to hold their dry lumber and lose on taxes, interest and insurance. The present prices do not indicate that lumber is getting cheaper or that woodlots have less value. With the return of good business conditions the prices will go back where they belong. The owner of timber or sawed lumber who does not have to sell just now has very little to bother him."

"These suggestions do not aim to discourage the farmer who wishes to haul out a few thousand feet of logs while the sledding is good and the teams are idle, but the owner who is contemplating cutting his woodlot out right, there are people trying to buy lots cheap just at present on account of unsettled conditions and some are succeeding."

"This is the logical time to look over the woodlot, figure out how much timber is ripe for cutting, and what kind of work can be carried on now actually to improve conditions. This means thinning out young growth for cordwood by saving the best trees and removing the poorer ones growing in dense stands, thus letting in light to the crowns and more room to the roots. Incidentally the rate of growth speeds up so much that ten years less time is required to mature the trees. Trimming up side branches of pines and other trees as high as one can reach with a club, ax or saw is desirable in the case of dead limbs. It can be easily done without injury. Moreover, it makes possible the formation of clear lumber outside the knots. The chief objection to trimming green branches is the injury one is liable to cause the tree."

"Piles of old slash and brush should be burned on the snow, especially along high roads and trails, where some careless person may throw a match or cigar."

"It is going to be a paying proposition to take better care of the farm woodlot. Every acre should be producing good growth of desirable species. Cuttings should be re-seeded at once so that there may be no actual interruption to the process of growing trees. While the larger trees can benefit you, the small ones just starting will help the children some day and help you now to increase the value of the farm."

ARMY APPROPRIATION
BILL SHOWS INCREASE

Washington, Feb. 12.—The army appropriation bill, as reported yesterday by the Senate Military Affairs Committee carries $102,923,575, a net increase of $1,573,589 over the bill passed by the House. The estimates of the War Department called for $101,200,000. The Senate committee struck out the $50,000 provision of the House bill for the purchase of armored motor cars, substituting a $25,000 appropriation for the testing of various types of such machines. Other important increases include $100,000 for the signal service, $218,000 for transportation of the army and supplies, and $35,000 for hospital care of canal zone garrisons.

PORTSMOUTH HORSE TO RACE AGAIN

Another Match Between Mudlake and Dan H. to Come Off Wednesday.

The Portsmouth backers of the day gelding Mudlake were not satisfied with the result of the race between the Portsmouth gelding and Dan H. owned by L. E. Currier, and still thinking that the Portsmouth horse has the ability to defeat the Concord horse they went to Mr. Currier at the close of the race Wednesday and made another match. Mr. Currier was only too good to accommodate them as he thinks it is real easy money for him. The match was made for $100 a side, the race to be best 3 in 5, quarter mile heats over Granite State Park track on Wednesday, Feb. 17. To the average horseman who witnessed the race between the two horses of Wednesday, it looks as if the Portsmouth horsemen have a lot of money that they desire to burn. While the racing was very close between the two horses, Mr. Currier never made a drive during the entire race. He simply sat still and let the horse do all the work and there never was a doubt in his mind as to the result of the race from the time he got the word in the first heat until the wire was reached in the final one. Dan H. is certainly a slick pacer and the Portsmouth backers of the horse Mudlake are a game lot of sports when they come back and want another race after the sign decision that Dan H. scored over the Portsmouth horse. Each of the horses are paces of much ability and a race between them will be worth seeing and will no doubt draw a large crowd when the horses meet again next Wednesday afternoon.

IS THAT ALL?

In the Chronicle of January 12, the article headed "Dover Chief Recommends a Woman Police Officer" draws the comment that Portsmouth didn't find a woman police officer a howling success. It is the lack of an efficient woman officer that has made possible the notorious scandals by which Portsmouth has been disgraced. Are you waiting for a Richardson tragedy? I should think all the women in the churches, in the lodges, in civics and in the homes would unite and demand a woman police. Secure the services of a woman of age and experience and at the start, give her the assistance of two detectives (also women), and

OUR LOCAL THEATRES

Another set of first class bills are shown at the theatres here for the last two days of the week. The big headliner at the New theatre is Daniel Frohman's presentation of Miss Mary Pickford in "Behind the Scenes." The audience was charmed with her work as they always are with this little favorite. The story is one of theatrical life in which Mary Pickford plays the part of a musical comedy song-brette who happens to throw some confetti into the eye of one of the men in the audience, causing him to become nearly blind. After evident concern over the pain she has caused him, the story is very real. One forgets in watching the play that it is a picture. The work of the others in the cast is also very real. The Lubin Comedy "The Beloved Bridegroom" featuring Arthur Johnson and Fannie Brice is funny and clever and different from the usual run of comedies. Miss Hazel Gilmore was very entertaining in her songs and dances which were presented in a able manner.

The main attraction at the Senate temple is the twentieth installment of the famous "Million Dollar Mystery" featuring Florence La Badie and Jimmy Cruze. The action is swift and the story moves along considerably bringing in the old game of sympathy to link in a secret warning to Florence from her father. The three reel Bison drama, "The Law of the Range," is a good western drama full of thrilling situations and fast action. The last of the bill is very good, especially the two reel American drama, "The Legend of the Beautiful," a picture of old Mexico, containing some very clever double exposure work and fine acting. The Selig drama, "Just Like a Woman," is a story of newspaper life and the Portsmouth Theatre and its bill, feeling in more ways than one, it is a heart interest story, and it is just like a woman. The National Feature Lubin drama is another high class offering that holds the attention to the end. The vaudeville consists of two double acts, both better than usual. Warren and Renshaw enter with a singing act and Leedley and Jones with a novelty singing and dancing act. All three houses have bills of more than usual excellence.

you will be sure of prompt and thorough results.

Portsmouth, N. H., Saturday, February 13, 1915.

All Pay Taxes.

New York city, great, grand and rich as it is, is shouting about excessive expenditures and burdensome taxes. The papers point out that the debt of the city is greater than that of the United States, one says, that nothing but a change of program will save it from bankruptcy and another says the budget could be reduced from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 without impairing the efficiency of the various departments of the city government.

At this point another leading city paper comes to the front with the statement that one of the troubles is the idea that the expense of government falls almost entirely on real estate, and that for this reason people who do not own property usually favor large appropriations and expenditures, feeling that these tend to general activity and prosperity. The paper speaks of this as a "distorted notion" and says the remedy lies in the education of the people to the point where they will realize that they are all tax payers.

This is true of New York and of every other city and town in the land, but it is a truth which it is very difficult for the average person to realize. It is no truer of those who do not own real estate than of those who do. Ninety-nine out of every 100 non-property holders everywhere are of the opinion that they do not pay taxes, and the property holders feel the same way about it, with the result that the non-taxpayers—to call them such for the sake of argument—are usually to be found on the side of large appropriations and in favor of "doing things," while the property owners feel that they are bearing practically the entire burden.

It is true that every man helps to pay the taxes in the town or city in which he lives, and if there is to be a campaign of education on this subject it must apply to property holders as well as to those who pay their taxes in the form of rent.

What is needed is a more general realization of the truth of the old saying, "You cannot eat your cake and keep it." In other words, if a city is to have everything in sight it must expect to settle, and where much is demanded it is in poor taste to complain of the cost, so far as this is not swollen by incompetency or downright dishonesty. All the people pay the taxes and when these become burdensome they have only themselves to thank. That is the lesson of the situation in New York and elsewhere, and it is one that will have to be learned before any material change in conditions is brought about.

"Build Now" a Fine Slogan.

A short time ago the Boston Post, through its editorial columns, started a "Build Now" campaign that has reached almost nation wide scope. The slogan has been taken up by nearly every paper in New England. The Boston Post has always been a prime mover in things for the betterment of conditions, not only in Boston and New England, but in the entire country. It makes the quarrel of any community in the fight against pressure, from no matter what source, its own personal quarrel, and will carry on the fight until the end.

Its influence is felt all over New England and its columns are open to everyone who has a just cause to establish. The Boston Post has been particularly good to Portsmouth, backing up this paper in its fight to keep the navy yard where it belongs. There is not another paper that has done as much for us here, not only in the present conflict but in the past. Now that the Post has started the "Build Now" campaign, why not get together and help to get things going? Every new building is an asset to your self, your city and your country. The "Build Now" campaign, with the support of the people, will do much to make it as popular in other seasons, not as a playground, but as a place for its rightful share of the country's business. Get together and help the Post help you.

"Eddie" Tilton, as he was known by his intimates, has passed on to the great beyond. He was as a newspaper reporter, a hard worker and a loyal friend, and he carried into his business that persistency of purpose to succeed and to such an extent that overtaxed his energies and ruined his health. Such true and loyal friends in a community are altogether uncommon and young Tilton's death will be regretted by a large circle of friends. That smile and happy disposition of his, whether winning or losing, in the struggles of life remained with him until the last. He made a brave fight until the last and lived weeks beyond the time his physicians said he could. This paper never had a more loyal or more devoted attaché than young Tilton during his repertorial career and reports his demise with deep regret.

A woman attracted attention in New York a few days ago by circling the statue of liberty in a flying boat, sailing over the East river bridges and all that sort of thing. But this was not the first exhibition ever given by a woman in "high flying."

Jack Johnson, the colored pugilist, is heading for Mexico, but there is some question regarding his admission, Villa being for him and Carranza against him. By the way, isn't there a little account standing against Mr. Johnson in Chicago?

English Sappers With Fur Jackets On Way to Dig Reserve Trenches.

This picture shows the type of English soldiers kept busy digging trenches in northwestern France, wearing their fur jackets. The English soldiers do not wear long overcoats, as they do not give free use of the legs. Reserve trenches are being constructed behind the allies' lines so that if the allies are forced to fall back they will have trenches already built to occupy.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Feb. 13—More than 300 fruit growers from all parts of Massachusetts gathered today at Horticultural hall, at a conference under the auspices of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society. The morning session was devoted to lectures on grafting and budding and pruning. In the afternoon lectures were given on spraying and small fruit culture. The lectures were by members of the faculty of the Massachusetts Agricultural College and the State Board of Agriculture. The conference was the first of a series on subjects pertaining to agricultural work.

Boston, Feb. 13—On the 200th anniversary of Ephraim Williams, the founder of Williams' College, on next Thursday evening, Williams men from all over New England will gather at the Hotel Lenox. The association has provided for a special attraction to commemorate this occasion. The Scotts musical comedy company led by Everett D. Merrill, '92, will present their skit "Tani O'Shanter."

Boston, Feb. 13—Under the direction of the State Forestry Department, some 200 of the unemployed of the state have been set at work in the various cities and towns, those outside the metropolitan district being paid from the $50,000 fund provided by the state and those in the Greater Boston district from the Metropolitan Park fund of $100,000. The wages according to the announcement of State Forestry, range will be 20 cents per hour for an eight hour day. For the purpose of bringing together in the members of the State Committee to Promote Work, a meeting will be held next Monday afternoon at the State House.

Boston, Feb. 13—Governor Walsh's invitation to the Democratic members of the legislature to meet him at a dinner once a month and to appoint a steering committee is being interpreted in the state house corridors as meaning that the governor will run for a third term. Rep. Edward P. McLaughlin, leader of the house Democrats has appointed the following Democratic steering committee: Representatives Louis L. Dame of North Andover, J. P. E. Doherty and Amos P. Ogden of Fall River, Peter Carr of Lawrence, Michael J. Cotter of Lynn, John Courtney of Springfield,

I WONDER

What the make up of the Sunset League will be this summer? Where the Seaman's Home will be located?

If the legislature will be good to us and come across with that $15,000 to complete the armory?

If some of the old numbers of houses will ever be taken off?

Why all the members of the Girls' Club are denying that Dan Cupid's arrow has hit them?

Why the prospective bride is so bashful in making the announcement? Why they want the representation of 9 in the city council cut down to 7?

When the Boston and Maine ordered the whistling of locomotives out at night in the local yard?

Why that basketball team that is in training at Kittery Junction don't come out in public and show their speed?

Why the navy department don't send a few of the ships that are assigned to this port, home for repairs?

Why the law calling for sleigh bells is not enforced?

Why the young men on Cabot street who are rehearsing for a minstrel show, objected to the girls in the black face comedy?

Why the town of Elliot don't organize a fire department since the water lines were put in?

Why that South End young lady made her exit from the whist club?

MAKING THE HORSE DRINK.

"You can lead a horse to water but you can't make him drink."

Manufacturers might rewrite this to show: "You can stock upon a retailer but you can't make him sell goods his customers do not want."

They also add that they will have difficulty in repeating the stocking up process. Retailers depend for their profit on goods that move.

This is the kind they push—their stores are not museums. Retailers are interested in goods advertised in their home newspapers because they feel the demand at their counters. They are moving with the wishes of their customers when they push newspaper advertised goods.

TWO DEAD IN MAINE FIRE

Kennebunkport, Me., Feb. 13.—Two men lost their lives and Charles Duford was badly burned when the latter's home was destroyed by fire here early today. An overloaded stove is supposed to have caused the fire. The men were all asleep at the time of the fire. Duford was rescued by a neighbor. The two men, who burned to death were Peter Gilbert, aged 59, of Biddeford, and Pierre Braultette, aged 66, also of Biddeford. They were both woodchoppers who worked here, and have families in Biddeford.

SHOES SPOIL OUR FEET.

That is Why So Few Persons Have Perfect Pedal Extremities.

A person with normal feet is very difficult to find. In fact, the doctors inform us that foot trouble is endemic in the United States, as well as in every enlightened country on the globe. The cause of this condition and the vast suffering which it entails is the unhygienic shoe.

A thousand Porto Ricans whose feet had never been shod were examined. Not a single diseased or deformed foot was found among them. A San Francisco surgeon, in commenting on this fact, declares that among a thousand shoe wearing Americans there is hardly one with normal feet.

The trouble is that the vast majority of our shoes are improperly constructed. The fashionable shoe seems built to force the foot into shapes which, however slightly, are nevertheless abnormal. That worn by the masses is equally inimical to foot health, for the reason that it is constructed with very little reference to the lines of the foot and without effort to adjust it to the normal movements of that member.

The medical man presents the moccasin as the most wholesome foot covering yet devised, but very few are sanguine enough to hope that fashion will permit its general use. Next to the moccasin, so we are told, is the shoe that not only permits the foot to perform its normal functions unimpeded, but strengthens it when in use. This is the shoe that, instead of pinching the foot or forcing it into abnormal shapes or positions, actually fits it.—Boston Herald.

PACKING FOR EXPORT.

For South America and the Far East Buyers Must Be Humored.

The methods of packing goods for the export market in Latin America and the far east need serious consideration. In the United States with every forwarding facility, the largest, best and most complete transportation systems on earth, we are prone to think of the rest of the world as being similarly provided with modern methods for handling goods. The fact is that the burro, the llama, the camel, the elephant, the coolie and the Indian are yet the greatest common carriers.

The foreign merchant knows exactly how he wants his goods packed and will generally give specifications. Follow these instructions to the letter. If, as is common in export orders, his advice reads, "All goods to be wrapped in waterproof paper, then covered with burlap and bound with metal box strips, and no case to weigh more than forty kilos," do just this and no more.

Much good business has been irretrievably lost by shipping clerks ignoring such instructions. These goods may be on the road for weeks or even months, may be put on the backs of the pack train animals in the morning and thrown off at nightfall, pass through torrid heat and tropical rains, across wild swept plateaus above the clouds and be covered with snow.

The burro and llama are life members of a union which prohibits its members from carrying more than 100 pounds—50 on each side; burlap and metal strips are in a measure insurance against theft, and waterproof paper and burlap can be profitably sold by the importer.—Leslie's.

How Canada Got Its Name.

The origin of the name Canada is strange enough. The Spaniards visited that country previous to the French and made particular search for gold and silver, and, finding none, they often said among themselves, "Aen nada," meaning "There is nothing here." The Indians, who watched closely, learned this sentence and its meaning. Later on the French arrived, and the Indians, who wanted none of their company and supposed they had come on the same errand as the Spaniards, were desirous to inform them in the Spanish sentence "Aen nada." The French, who knew as little of the Spanish language as they supposed that the incessantly recurring sound was the name of the country and ultimately christened it Canada, which it has borne ever since.

TO HOLD DANCING PARTY

CURRENT OPINION

Giving Vote to Women Has Made Politics Cleaner in California.

I wish every anti-suffragist could go to California. The suffragists there have the strongest possible argument for their cause. Politics is no longer a sordid game. It is a healthy and permanent social interest. It is discussed in the family, at the dinner table and over cups of tea in a broad and tolerant spirit. The best hope for California lies in the deep and widespread political interests of its people. The awakening of the people, largely through the stimulus of woman suffrage, has dealt a blow at the bosses.

At the recent election it was noticeable that a Progressive governor, a Democratic federal senator and a standpat Republican secretary of state were elected. Each of these men was undoubtedly the best candidate for the office, and the voting showed that the people were not the slaves of the party ticket.

No one knowing the conditions of California could dispute this. On all the broad lines of social and political life I see a marked change and a change for the better since women have been enfranchised.—By Professor A. W. Whitney, Manager Workmen's Compensation Bureau, New York.

DR. BRECK URGES NEED OF BIG NAVY

Says Defense of Monroe Doctrine and Canal Requires Warships.

"Failure to keep up a powerful navy is gambling with the security of the country," declared Dr. Edward Breck, field secretary of the Navy League, speaking last evening before the Harvard Club in Boston on the need of a larger navy.

He cited the possibility of a war between this country and either England, Japan or Germany in the not distant future as justification for increasing the number of fighting ships, and he referred to the suddenness with which the present war broke out as proof that no time ought to be lost in getting to work to constructing dreadnoughts for the defense of the Monroe Doctrine and the Panama Canal.

Dr. Breck said further: "With no cruisers of over 26 knots speed, and that on paper, and such ships only scouts, not fighters, we could do very little injury to an enemy's merchant ships, while our own merchant ships would soon disappear from the seas." After describing the Navy League as a patriotic organization devoted to the maintenance of peace by means of an adequate navy, the speaker said it advocates reform in naval administration, a well organized naval militia, an adequate naval reserve and military instructions in the schools.

It opposes the maintenance of so many navy yards and stations for purely political reasons.

"The permanent peace of the world," he continued, "can be secured only through gradual concentration of the respondent military strength in the hands of the most pacific countries. Disarmament of nations by agreement and the establishment of an international police force can only take place many years hence. In the meantime the responsibilities of this nation require a strong and efficient navy."

"As long as nationality exists there must be wars. Not armaments, but human nature, envy, hate, covetousness and commercial rivalry, cause the wars. Men fought with stones, and clubs before arms were invented."

The speaker claimed that the present war has shown the fallacy of the doctrine preached by Carnegie and David Starr Jordan and that it is now the time to follow a policy of common sense.

As to the danger of militarism, the speaker maintained that it is impossible in this country, the attitude of the law and the public opinion being so different from what they are in despotic countries. Work at building dreadnoughts ought to be started at once, he claimed, because it takes two years or more to build one, and Admiral Fluke has said that five years will be needed to bring our navy to the point of perfect efficiency.

He concluded with an alleged quotation from President Washington to the effect that the United States cannot expect to forever avoid wars with other nations, but that the nation among other nations, which may be lost by the reputation of weakness; that to avoid insult is to be able to repel it and to secure peace we must always be ready for war."

IT COST SOMETHING

The following figures will show what it cost to get a majority for license in Lynn at the last election.

It cost the Lynn Licensees' Association, which is composed of the liquor dealers of the city $17,007 for campaign expenses, according to its statement, filed with the city clerk. This statement says the money was chiefly expended for advertising, automobile hire, and for providing labor at the polls. In connection with this report is one by the Lynn Business Men's Association, which shows an expenditure of $2043.05.

A statement of the Lynn No-License League shows it spent $2171. The city went for license.

REUNION HELD IN BOSTON

"Sons and Daughters of Kittery" Held Banquet at the 20th Century Club Friday Evening.

The annual banquet of the "Sons and Daughters of Kittery" was held on Friday evening at the Twentieth Century Club, Joy street, Boston. This has been the meeting place on several previous occasions and has proved a most admirably appointed place as well as centrally located. There was a very good sized attendance, the following being there, Kittery: Mrs. Mattie M. Wentworth, Mr. George D. Boulter, Mr. G. H. D. Lamoureux, and Mr. Wallace Clinton Chase.

A reception was held from 6 to 7 o'clock and was followed by a banquet. A short business session was then held, after which were toasts and speeches. Dancing was then enjoyed until a late hour.

The committee of arrangements was: Fred A. Moore, president; D. Edward Parker and Florence E. Jones, vice presidents; J. Orville Otis, treasurer; Mrs. B. Adelaide Prior, secretary; assisted by George D. Boulter of Kittery.

WANT TWO NEW BUILDINGS

The annual visit of the Rockingham delegation to the county farm on Friday convinced most everybody that the recommendation of the County Commissioners for an administration building and a three-story addition to the hospital building should be granted.

The present housing of the inmates at the County Farm has been criticized for several years on the annual report of the State Board of Charities and Corrections, who consider the housing for the paupers and the hospital equipment the poorest in the state. The estimated cost of the new administration and the addition to the hospital building is $45,000.

MURDERER WILL BE BROUGHT TO PORTSMOUTH

Sheriff Spinney Left for Boston, and Will Bring Wilson Back Tonight.

A man supposed to be Thomas Wilson, wanted here for the murder of Samuel B. Thrilling, a jewelry salesman of Auburn, N. H., was arrested in Boston late last night.

On September 22 last, two men, Wilson and another man named Taylor, lured Thrilling out to Lake Massabesic where they shot him and securing his jewelry went to Manchester, changed their clothes and made a clean getaway. Sheriff Spinney and County Solicitor Gupilli were in Manchester on business at the time and called Deputy Shaw on the case by phone. The Deputy went immediately to Manchester by auto, but there were no men to be found.

In the meantime, the sheriff with Mr. Gupilli made a thorough investigation of the case in and about Manchester and secured the evidence which resulted in the issuing of the warrants for the arrest of the men.

Thrilling had five bullets shot into him and he died after several weeks.

There were warrants for the arrest of these two men placed in Sheriff Spinney's hands at once on a charge of murder, and he and Deputy Shaw made many attempts to locate the fugitives in different parts of the state and Maine, also going to Montreal and other Canadian cities.

Wilson has many aliases, Gerald G. W. Rickard, Gerald Rickard, William Bennabetter, Alfonso Rickard, and several others. He came to this country from Ottawa, Canada, being at different times in Portland, Old Orchard, Kennebunk, and several points in New Hampshire, working in hotels and restaurants as a waiter.

Sheriff Spinney had printed notices with descriptions and photographs of the men sent to police headquarters all over the country and it was through these that Wilson was caught last night.

Sheriff Spinney was notified shortly before eleven o'clock this morning of the arrest of Wilson in Boston and he left here on the 1.43 train to get Wilson. He will be brought back and held here in the county jail until his arraignment which will probably take place the first of next week.

RECEPTION TO HER DANCING CLASS

There was a very pretty dancing party at Freeman's hall on Friday evening, when Miss Georgine Moses tendered a reception to her Friday evening dancing class, this being the close of a most successful season for this class.

The members of the class all had the privilege of inviting a friend for the floor and two for the gallery, so that there was a large number present both on the floor and in the gallery.

The class and guests were received by Miss Moses and dancing started soon after eight and was continued until twelve o'clock. An orchestra of seven pieces, Alex. Bilbilde director furnished the music.

It was a very dressy affair and the costumes of the ladies were very pretty.

During the evening refreshments of ice were served.

"BEHIND THE SCENES"

A five part Paramount photo-play of theatrical life written by Margaret Mayo, author of "Baby Mine" and "Twin Beds." The story: Dolly Lane is a poor and pretty little musical comedy soubrette, rehearsing and playing day and night, living in poor lodgings quietly and meagrely, and devoted to her work and stage ambition, which are the dominant factors in her life. One night, in the final scene of the play, she and her comrades throw confetti into the audience, nearly blinding a young man who sits in one of the front rows of the orchestra. Dolly's sincere concern over the accident amply atones for it, and the young man, Steve Hunter, induces his friend, a wealthy young chap, to take him behind the scenes after the performance. There he and Dolly meet and their romance begins. Though not a devotee of the theatre himself, Steve is not long in falling in love with little Dolly, and one night, after the lights of the theatre are dimmed, they are made man and wife.

MUST RETURN THE BOOZE

Justice King in the Bangor police court has ordered nine barrels of whisky, seized there by the sheriff some time ago, to be returned to the consignee.

The whisky arrived on the Boston boat, consigned to Charles H. Milan of Bangor. It is claimed that Milan at once reshipped the liquor to Boston and had been delivered a bill of lading by the steamship company.

Justice King said in his decision that undoubtedly the liquor was intended for illegal sale when shipped here, but at the time of seizure was clearly in the hands of the transportation company and consequently not for illegal sale in the state.

GERMANY WARNS U. S. ABOUT CARGO ON WILHELMINA

States That If Cargo Is Held Up Without American Protest, U. S. May Suffer.

Washington, Feb. 13.—The German government today warned the United States that if the British government doesn't permit the steamer Wilhelmmina with her cargo of foodstuffs to go through to Germany the Berlin authorities will take steps in retaliation against England that may indirectly have a serious effect upon American shipping. Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador on instruction from the Berlin Foreign Office, called Great Britain's attention to the guarantee of the German government that the Wilhelmmina's cargo will be used only for the civil population of Germany. The German ambassador suggested that serious consequences must follow an unfavorable report of the prize court in the Wilhelmmina's case. Von Bernstorff declared that if the British prize court should uphold the seizure of the vessel's cargo, retaliatory measures will be taken at once by Germany.

"ROAMIN' IN THE GLOAMIN'" MADE HIT

Herbert A. Clark Gave Pleasing Program for Baraca Club.

A most pleasing program was given by Herbert A. Clark, humorist, musician and impersonator, at the Second Christian church, Kittery, on Friday evening, under the auspices of the Baraca club. Mr. Clark has appeared in Kittery several times before and his excellence is well known, and on Friday evening he was at his best. He has a very pleasing voice, and instantly took with his audience. His rendition of Harry Lauder's favorite, "Roamin' in the Gloamin'," was especially good, and his humorous recitations kept his hearers in a constant roar of laughter.

Mr. Raymond Hobbs, who was Mr. Clark's efficient accompanist, should come in for his share of praise. His work was very fine and much enjoyed by all. The Ladies' Mandolin club also rendered several pleasing selections which were heartily applauded. Their work was very creditable and the bandages greatly appreciate it, as it was given gratis. The program:

Overture—Mandolin Club.

Song—"Daddy Was a Grand Old Man."

Song—"I'm Glad My Wife's in Europe."

Character sketches.

Scotch song (in costume)—"Roamin' in the Gloamin'."

Song—"It's Nice to Get Up in the Morning."

Selection from J. T. Trowbridge.

Irish sketches and ballads.

Song—"It's a Long Way to Timperary."

Song—"My Crooney Melody."

Negro sketches in costume.

Selection—Mandolin Club.

Selection—One String Fiddle.

Harp Solo.

OBSEQUIES

William H. Moran

The friends and acquaintances of the late William H. Moran gathered in large numbers at the Church of the Immaculate Conception this morning where the funeral services were held at 9 o'clock. People in all walks of life were among the attendance and came to pay the last earthly token of respect which the living can render the dead.

The Portsmouth Lodge of Elks, of which the deceased had been a member for many years was represented by a delegation, and many past and present city officials attended. The funeral services were preceded by a high mass of requiem offered by Rev. Edward J. Walsh, P. R., and the Gregorian service was sung by members of the senior choir. At the conclusion of the service a soprano solo was rendered by Miss Katherine O'Leary.

Decorative floral emblems, were mite manifestations of the esteem in which the deceased was held. The interment was in Calvary cemetery by Funeral Director W. P. Miskell, and the following acted as pall bearers: William T. Entwistle, James A. McCarthy, Ernest L. Gupilli, Michael Hurley, Daniel A. Leary, Michael A. Barrett, Raphael A. Costello, Michael Kelley.

The Portsmouth delegation in the legislature attended in a body.

NORTH CHURCH COOPERATION

FIGHT OVER TRUANT OFFICER

Dover School Board Members Divided on Question.

Dover, Feb. 12.—The regular monthly meeting of the School Board was held Thursday evening, presided over by Chairman Fairbanks. Superintendent Butterfield was re-elected for a two year term at a salary of $2,000. The real scrap of the meeting was over the truant officer, when Committee member Foster presented a communication from the police commission stating that the police department was willing to attend to the duties now performed by the truant officer. Mr. Foster contended that the $600 which was paid to the truant officer was an unnecessary expenditure of money and that the police officers had ample time to do the work.

The different committeemen expressed their opinion on the matter, and the majority was that the office of truant officer should be separated from the police; that the present office was doing good work and that he should be retained.

One of the committeemen made a motion to have the matter laid on the table for one month in order to investigate it. This was voted down on a vote of 14 to 3. A motion was then made to proceed in the election of a truant officer. Homer Caverly, the present truant officer, was re-elected by a vote of 11 to 2, the other two being cast for Charles P. Hammond.

Prior to the vote to lay the matter over for one month, Chairman of the School Board Fairbanks took the floor, and explained that according to the law of the state it would be illegal to have the members of the police force do the work of the truant officer, as the law clearly states that each city should elect a truant officer and also prescribe his duties. There was an exhibition at the school committee rooms a large amount of the work done by the industrial classes connected with the different grades of the public schools.

THE REVIVAL MEETING

The revival meeting held at the Methodist church on Friday evening was largely attended and much interest was manifested. The pastor, Rev. F. J. Scott, preached on "Drifting from the Gospel," Heb. 1:11.

"Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest haply we should drift away from them."

The pastor spoke of the natural world currents setting away from the Gospel and warned his hearers, especially those interested in religion, but not decided for Christ, against the tendency to drift.

The meetings will be continued on Sunday and further announcement will be made then.

RUNAWAY COST $4,000

RUSSIA FORCED TO RETIRE IN EAST PRUSSIA

Holding Lines in Other Places and Big Battle Expected--Hot Fighting in the Vosges Passes

Petrograd, Feb. 12.—Further examination of the retirement of the Russian forces in East Prussia is made today in an official statement, which says: "It is believed we are upon the eve of a great operation which must solve definitely the struggle in East Prussia." Warning is given that because of the necessity for military secrecy little information may be expected regarding the operations which are about to begin. The Russians are seeking the shelter of their own fortresses, the statement asserts, before attempting to take "more concentrated" positions from which to oppose the heavily reinforced Germans.

Przemysl Exhausting Itself
The Russians claim the garrison of the fortress of Przemysl is exhausting itself in fruitless sorties. A final repulse of the Germans, who temporarily occupied the heights of Koslovka after 22 assaults, is reported. The communication follows:

"It has been established that recently there have appeared in East Prussia four new corps of the German army, comprising partly of troops transported from the west front, partly of new recruits and partly of reserve forces."

"These radically changed conditions have involved the necessity of our troops retreating in order to facilitate reconcentration in positions more convenient. This object it was believed would better be attained upon our own territory, in the shelter of our fortresses."

"It is believed we are upon the eve of a great operation which must solve definitely the struggle in East Prussia. This circumstance renders it necessary that all inquiries be made concerning military movements, taking account of the strict necessity for the observance of military secrecy."

Drive Germans from Heights
After a frustrated attempt, the Germans succeeded in occupying in great force, after a desperate struggle the heights of Koslovka, but were dislodged after a violent battle which resulted in 400 dead.

The garrison of the fortress of Przemysl is exhausting itself in fruitless attacks maintaining an irregular fire against our attacking troops.

Hot Fighting in the Vosges Passes
Early Feb. 12.—The campaign for the possession of the Vosges passes and the main roads into upper Alsace has been resumed despite the heavy snow. The Germans are being harassed with long range heavy artillery brought up during the fall of the last campaign and an offensive is being initiated that is expected to remove them into a series of hotly contested battles that will give the French possession of various strategic points necessary to begin the drive of the Kaiser's forces northward, and across the Rhine.

On the other extreme of the long northern line from the sea to Muehrt, a German offensive which has been developing has suffered a severe check. Some of the outer chain of German fortresses have been demolished by French and Belgian heavy artillery and by some throwers. From Neuport to Tynes around the La Bassee positions and near Soissons, the artillery exchanges continue without interruption.

In the Argonne region the fighting for the roads leading south through Metz and for the heights of Marbœuf continues. The Germans have made several direct frontal attacks in the Champagne region and have lost more than 1000 men. In the Champagne region the Germans continue their ef-orts to retake the wooded hills lying north of Mesnilles-Hurles, but so far without success.

Russian General Staff Expects Decisive Battles

Petrograd, Russia, Feb. 12.—The retirement of the Russian forces from the region of the Mazurian lakes to the Russian frontier is due, according to the Russian general staff to new considerations which have become important since the heavy German concentration in East Prussia has changed the complexion of the military situation on the northern battle front.

Since the determined nature of the German operations in the Mazurian lake district destroys any supposition that this is merely one of the countless demonstrations employed by the Germans to distract attention and divert forces from the main issue in Poland, and since it now is evident that this is the beginning of a series of long and active operations which may definitely settle the struggle on this front, the Russian general staff has decided that the most favorable disposition of forces can be made on Russian territory, where, in the early part of the war Russia so decisively defeated the German attempts on the banks of the River Niemen.

The semi-circular formation of the Russian forces, which recently extended from the Mazurian lakes northward to Tilsit, has now, therefore, changed its position without altering its general shape. One horn of the crescent is now resting in the province of Plock and the other in the province of Kovno.

It is reported officially that engagements at Wilkownetz, Nyshevetz, Ostrolenka, and as far south as Sterek and the river Skivva show that the general activity extends over the whole of this wide semi-circle which marks the present disposition of the Russian forces.

It is now reported in Petrograd that the recent German re-enforcements in East Prussia, instead of being drawn from other points on this front, are composed largely of new German recruits, collected by men drawn from the western front.

George S. Chandler, 420 Pleasant street Portsmouth, says: "I do a great deal of walking in my work, and in that way my kidneys became weakened, causing me much suffering. About three years ago I learned of Doan's Kidney Pills and began using them. They cured me and I have had little trouble since. Sometimes when I overwork or do any heavy lifting, I notice lameness in my back, but a few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills bring relief. I have recommended this remedy to many of my friends and in every instance where it has been tried, benefit has followed."

GERMANY GIVEN A SET BACK BY U. S. NOTE

Frankly told that Trouble Will Follow Loss of American Ships or Lives.-- England Does Not Like Her Note on the Flag Incident.

Berlin, via wireless, Feb. 12.—While the Berlin newspapers are chary of saying it will not be difficult to satisfy comment on the United States' letter, there is a general justification of the German government in the few editorial prints.

The Tages Zeitung points out that the suggestion that submarines were used to attack the ship to be attacked is a British one cannot always be complied with. It demands how a mine that has been planted is to distinguish what flag a ship is flying and insists that the German government is well within its rights when it announces that neutral vessels entering the war zone after the date fixed by the German government do so at their own risk.

England Resents U. S. Warning
London, Feb. 12.—That the United States intends fully to protect all of her rights and privileges is the construction today placed on the American notes to Germany and Great Britain. Although the complete text reached here too late for extensive comment by the morning papers, there is no question that the vigorous language used in both communications came as a distinct surprise to the majority of British diplomats.

There is a general disposition to resent the action of the American state department as assuming without consulting for official information that the British foreign office has sanctioned the "misuse of neutral flags." As a matter of fact the majority of Englishmen are arguing that, inasmuch as England has always allowed the use of her flag by a merchantman seeking to evade capture, she should have the same right.

Anti-American Feeling
Were the American note not accompanied by the present strong language used in the note to Germany it is believed it would arouse severe indignation. But there is a general feeling that of the two, the Kaiser gets the worst of it, and this brings satisfaction to the average Englishman.

However, there is no disguising that a strong anti-American feeling is growing throughout England, having its basis in the belief that the United States should openly express sympathy with the cause of the allies. It has been added to by the original protest against England's assumption of domination of the seas and the latest note can be expected to add to it. The majority of English officials insist that whether the foreign office sanctioned the use of the American flag by certain mail-carrying English steamers or not, the present protest need not have been made in the manner that it was. They take the position that the attention of the British government could have been called to the matter through diplomatic channels and without making the text of the note public. And the assumption, admittedly made on newspaper reports, that the foreign office has officially sanctioned the use of the flag is characterized as typically American.

It is understood that so soon as he has considered the note Sir Edward Grey, the British foreign minister, will call it to the attention of the cabinet. It will cause no surprise if the government should disavow the allegations contained in the letter and place responsibility for the use of the American flag on high officials of the steamship lines, although this is, of course, not certain.

UNSOLVED MYSTERIES.

Such as Radium, the Human Brain and the Electric Field.

Alexander Graham Bell was once asked if he understood precisely how a telephone conveyed the sound of a human voice. His answer was: "No, I only know what is done. I do not know how it is accomplished."

One is reminded of Lord Kelvin's remark to some of his professional colleagues near the close of his brilliant career. It will be recalled that Bell gave to Kelvin the instruments used in the first demonstration of telephony at the Philadelphia Centennial in 1876. It was many years later that Kelvin said that he knew no more as to the nature of electricity than he knew when he first began to work with it.

From Franklin to Edison master minds among us have done wonderful things with cells and dynamos, generators and transformers, directing the interplay of dreadful elemental forces as inscrutable as they are majestic. And still we do not know what electricity is.

A woman finds that tons and tons of a certain ore produce a fraction of a gram of radium, and we go to work with it and behold the poisonous results it achieves, but we do not know what it is.

A congregation of sapient alienists at a trial gives expert testimony, but no man among them knows what his own brain is nor how it gives instantaneous directions to the foot and the hand. Mystery is at the very root of life and rites to the end. Whatever way we turn we find the abyss unplumbed, the unfathomed darkness. How ridiculous is our presumption of knowledge before so vast an ignorance.—Philadelphia Ledger.

FAMOUS HYMN WRITER DEAD

Fanny Crosby, Author of More Than 8000 Hymns, Dies at Age of 95.

Bridgeport, Conn., Feb. 12.—Fanny Crosby, the blind hymn writer author of more than 8,000 hymns died here this morning after a long and painful illness, aged 94 years.

She was born in Putnam county, New York, March 24, 1820. When six weeks old she was made blind when her parents followed the advice of an unskilled physician and gouged her eyes. In 1858 she married Alexander Van Astyn. He was a graduate of the University of Syracuse, a musician and philosopher, and a deep student of human nature. He died in 1882.

Among her best beloved and better known hymns were "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," "Rosebud," "Perishing," "Speed Away," and "Pass Me Not By."

DAILY CABLE LETTER

Paris, Feb. 12.—Among the beneficial results which may come from the present war is the realization of the project for a tunnel under the English Channel, connecting the Allies of France and Great Britain.

This was discussed first just before the Franco-Prussian war. After that conflict the British strangely seemed that the tunnel would be a military danger, inviting invasion from the Continent.

It is now generally realized that the tunnel instead of a danger would be England's greatest bulwark. It could easily be destroyed if the enemy captured the French end; in fact a thousand men could hold it against ten million. On the other hand it would enable reinforcements to be thrown quickly between France and Great Britain.

If England were invaded several French corps would be sent through the tunnel in one quarter the time that would be taken now. The trains could be made up in any part of France and discharge the troops and their impediments at a point in England near the battle front.

The advantage which the tunnel would have been to General French's expeditionary force last August, are too obvious to need emphasis. If the tunnel had been in existence, northern France and even Brussels might have been saved.

PRESIDENT REFUSES TO ACCEPT SUBSTITUTE

Washington, Feb. 12.—President Wilson today rejected the compromise bill evolved yesterday by Democratic leaders of the House. He refused to agree to an amendment terminating the activities of the Government in the shipping business two years after the close of the European war.

Representing the President, Postmaster General Burleson made a counter proposition to the leaders. It was that the House combine Senator Gore's substitute for the Administration bill with a bill by Senator Weeks, which already has passed the Senate, providing a line of naval auxiliaries to be used for passengers and freight emergencies at the discretion of the Secretary of the Navy. Mr. Burleson said the President would not accept any amendment to destroy the permanent character of the project.

Whole Plan at Sea Again

Democrats who had been working at both ends of the capital to get the bill in form acceptable to both Senate and House before March 4, were confident it could be passed if the amendment making it a temporary measure were attached. The counter proposal advanced by the Postmaster General threw the whole proposition again into the region of uncertainty. Representative Kleckley, the House Democratic leader-elect, declared that he had no doubt it could pass the House. The Democrats who favored the temporary amendment feared a resumption of the republican filibuster would not be attached. With the House proposal as a new basis, further negotiations went forward.

PRIVATE MAKES MACHINE GUN RECORD

A score, which army men have regarded to be a record for the United States Army in machine gun firing at floating targets, was made at Texas City last night by Private Claude Bloomfield, Twenty-Sixth Infantry, who at five hundred yards, shooting at illuminated targets, made 101 hits out of 120 shots. The entire company made 520 hits out of 1200.

TROUBLE WITH NORTH DAKOTA'S TURBINES

The battleship North Dakota which is returning from Guantanamo to Norfolk, was obliged to leave the fleet because of the stopping of some of the blades of her turbines. WHAT WE DEMAND TODAY.

The world today is not satisfied with plain facts. The truth must be made attractive. What we eat is served in many forms; the "buy a barrel of apples" suggestion was followed by "the one thousand ways to serve them." Wheat, corn and oatmeal are prepared in various ways for the so-called "break-fast food." The clothing we put on—there must be change of style or "what we wear" would lose its interest. The cures for simple bodily ailments and the ways to meet the expenses of the household are numbered by the hundred. How the world is to be made righteous is set forth in many ways by the daily papers and weekly and monthly magazines.

Everybody knows, and a good many wish to have others know, that they know, and the cities pass ordinances and we are far from the ideal.

Have improved methods in warfare added to the righteousness of war?

Why not take the world and its troubles in man's fashion and in place of insisting on our theory let us work together with this for our motto: "The truth and a few plain facts about it."

THE HERALD HEARS

That the committee on fire department will ask for competitive bids on the new fire whistle and the apparatus to operate the same.

That the Little Bakery Association will have a banquet on Washington's birthday.

That the city of Newburyport has brought back the curfew.

That all boys and girls under the age of 16 are supposed to be under cover when the fire alarm sounds at 8 p. m.

That the chief of police there is out to enforce the law to the letter.

That it looks as if Fast Day would go in this state and Patriots Day established.

That the flashlight pictures of the guests at the recent spread of the Frank Jones Brewing Company, surprised many of the group.

That the boys claim the photographer certainly had the goods.

That every park in this city is without a souvenir of the Civil war.

That it would be an easy matter to get hold of some of the relics at the navy yard which are going fast to all parts of the country.

That some of the patriotic societies of Portsmouth should get busy.

That a certain M. P. operator promises to appear in new raiment in a few days.

That he claims the new scenery will be about the noisiest rags this city has yet seen.

That he will sport the festive apparel for the first time at the 9 o'clock Club's "Phantom" party.

That he doesn't care if this is in the paper or not.

Another enjoyable event on the Portsmouth Girls' Club calendar occurred last evening at the club rooms, in the form of a Valentine party. There was a large attendance and the girls certainly enjoyed themselves. Various games appropriate to the occasion were played. Such features as "Pinning the Arrow on the Heart," writing "Love Letters" and writing "The Ideal Man." Much fun was derived from the Back Bay contest. The girls winning the highest scores and awarded prizes were: Miss Helen O'Brien, first; Miss Catherine Brannigan, second; Miss Johnson, third; Miss Nellie Harvey, fourth.

Miss Goodwin read a sketch from the "Life of Abraham Lincoln." A Victrola concert was also enjoyed. Dancing was heartily indulged in by all until time for departure.

Refreshments of fancy crackers and hot chocolate were served.

The committee in charge consisted of Miss Catherine Coughlin, chairman; Misses Mary Griffin, Alice B. Ryan, Flora Wallen, Esther Slobberg, and Mrs. William Cogan.

BUSINESS AND SOCIAL SESSION

The Pythian Sisters held their regular meeting on Friday evening with a good attendance. The usual routine was carried out, followed by a social hour, when refreshments of crackers, cheese, doughnuts and coffee were served. The committee in charge consisted of Mrs. Arthur Harrington, Mrs. Fred Canney and Mrs. Leavitt.

Visitors were present from New Castle. Plans were made for the "Exposition Party" to be held in the near future and also for the convention to be held in this city this spring. The degree staff held a rehearsal after the social.

OBITUARY

Charles Edward Tilton.

It becomes our painful duty to announce the death of one of the best known young residents of this city, Charles E. Tilton, who passed away early this morning at his residence on Fleet street, after a lingering illness, aged 40 years.

The deceased in his younger days was employed on the repertorial staff of this paper, and later held a position as clerk with the government at the navy yard.

His illness began in the Philippines, where he was transferred, serving a few years. He returned to this city and later took up his residence in California, where his health improved and he once more returned to his native city, and engaged in the drug business.

In every position he was a faithful worker and never failed wanting. He was popular with a wide circle of associates who now look upon his death with keen sorrow.

He was a member of Portsmouth Lodge, No. 37, B. P. O. E., and the Portsmouth Athletic Club and was indefatigable in his work in the interests of these two organizations. He was well known for his sunny disposition and his heart was filled with human kindness. He is survived by a wife, father and mother, two brothers: Ex-Councilman Bertram M. Tilton, and John S. Tilton, Jr.
